British Guiana: (A dispute over constitutional electoral provisions may cause a quick collapse of the London conference on British Guiana's independence. The conference opened on 22 October.)

(Forbes Burnham, the leader of the main opposition to Premier Jagan's pro-Communist government, wants proportional representation which he hopes will weaken Jagan's electoral support. Rumors that Jagan and Burnham may compromise on this issue are discounted

(The small conservative United Force Party, also represented at the conference, is expected to work actively for its breakdown. Collapse of the conference could lead to renewed violence in the colony.)

elements in the Jagan government are pressing the cabinet to issue a new anti-US statement committing the British Guiana government to accept aid only from "socialist" countries.)
